CALL FOR PAPERS

2nd Bergamo Workshop in Econometrics and Statistics (BWES): Salience theory, Non-standard Identification and Bayesian methods

The conference aims to bring together experts to present and discuss new research that bridges the mathematical, methodological, and applied aspects of economics. The second edition of BWES concentrates on Salience, a new successful economic theory that introduces psychological aspects to many disciplines of economic theory but is almost unexplored in terms of its econometric identification and links to the Bayesian approach to Probability and Statistics. On September 7-8, 2023, it will be conducted at the University of Bergamo. The BWES is intended to be a live event. If travel restrictions exist at the time of the conference, it will be possible for lecturers to partake online. The conference solicits (but is not restricted to) papers on the following topics:

- Expectation formation, updating, and measurement.
- Identification strategy of salience and other belief-connected issues in Econometrics.
- Cognitive and judgmental aspects in economic theory and econometric forecasting.
- Algorithms for analytic and automated learning.
- Memory: micro-foundation, modelling and statistical treatment.
- (Robust) Bayesian (parametric and nonparametric) estimation and inference.

Papers by PhD students or junior researchers are particularly welcome. The following Keynote Speakers have confirmed their participation:

- Monica Billio (Ca' Foscari University of Venice)
- Pedro Bordalo (Said Business School, University of Oxford)
- Ivana Komunjer (Washington University)
- Antonio Lijoi (Bocconi University)
